

Dear Golfer,

More than 40 years ago, Jean Vanier founded L'Arche based on a simple premise: Everyone has something to offer. From the beginning, Vanier focused on creating a home for people with developmental disabilities where their talents would be nurtured; he called the home L'Arche.

L'Arche communities have spread worldwide improving the day-to-day lives of those persons who are developmentally disabled and touching the heart of everyone involved. L'Arche has been making a difference in Nova Scotia for over 25 years, with communities in Antigonish, Cape Breton and Wolfville. Our province is the richer for this and it is past time that the L'Arche experience is available to individuals and families in the greater Halifax area.

As the first L'Arche home moves to completion on the corner of Gottingen and Sullivan, it is a testament to the determination and faith of volunteers and staff who have helped establish the L'Arche Halifax community. In order to operate effectively and bring programs and services to our core members there is a very real need for additional funds and we are asking for your help.

This October, L'Arche Halifax is holding its inaugural golf tournament at Sherwood Golf Course through the generosity of Richard Homburg. Your participation through entering a team or sponsoring a hole will ensure that many people with developmental disabilities can call L'Arche Halifax home.

I look forward to seeing you on the course in October.

Best regards,
